Work efficiently

Whether you just need a quick bibliography, you're searching a team library of 20,000 sources, or you want to keep track of notes, Citavi's tools help you work faster and more effectively.

Data security made easy

Citavi is the only reference management program for teams that gives you the option of storing your information on your own server instead of in the cloud. Individuals can also choose between local and online projects. Citavi automatically creates backups so you never lose your information.

Write with style

Say goodbye to wasted time formatting citations and bibliographies. Citavi offers over 10,000 citation styles: APA, Chicago, MLA, Turabian, etc., etc. Need one that's not there? You can create it yourself or ask us.

See the big picture

Big projects with tons of sources can feel overwhelming. Break your work down into tasks, keep track of important information from your articles, and sift through your sources to find the ones you really need – alone or in a team.

ANALYZE

Read and evaluate texts your way. Citavi fits all reading styles: you can minutely analyze and comment on the text – or quickly highlight the most important sections. Working in a team? Easily share your insights with your colleagues.

PLAN

With Citavi's Task Planner you always have you and your team's priorities and progress at your fingertips.

WRITE

Write research papers and dissertations with Citavi. Or articles or books. Or reports or research studies. Citavi plays well with Microsoft Word, Google Docs, and popular LaTeX editors.

STORE

No other reference management program gives you as many options for where to store your data – either alone or in a team.

COLLABORATE

Citavi is the only reference management program designed for teamwork. Whether you have strict data requirements and need to keep all your information in-house or whether you're collaborating on an informal group paper, Citavi has a solution.
